

Abstract

A method of enhancing the activity of lysosomal α -Galactosidase A (α -Gal A) in mammalian cells and for treatment of Fabry disease by administration of 1-deoxy-galactonojirimycin and related compounds.